

DID YOU KNOW?

Uranus contains fart gases!

The atmosphere of the planet Uranus has a lot in common with the gas that comes out of your anus.

They both contain methane, hydrogen, carbon dioxide and other odorless gases, as well as the smelly culprit - hydrogen sulfide. Uranus's atmosphere also contains stinky ammonia.

It's safe to say that Uranus smells terrible.

From plants to planets
SCIENCE IS AMAZING!

For more fun science facts and info about this poster visit www.facebook.com/scienceweek

national science week 11-19 August 2012

An Australian Government Initiative

Inspiring
AUSTRALIA

plant energy biology
ARC Centre of Excellence

This initiative is supported by the Australian Government and The University of Western Australia as part of National Science Week.

International Centre for Radio Astronomy Research